

New Biofeedback Game called BioBox - Tetris with Biofeedback

Wednesday, 22 August 2007

A game studio called Frozen North Productions in Canada has created an off-shoot of Tetris that they call Biobox. Their Biofeedback version of Tetris uses pulse rate to determine the speed of the following blocks. Like many biofeedback games, the object is to relax while playing - and the incentive is ease-of-play.

Frozen North
Productions will be selling the game online soon.